HOUSING INVESTMENT PROGRAM

The Housing Investment Program uses a flexible approach to invest in housing developments that serve a public good by providing affordable housing opportunities to income-qualified households. The Housing Investment Program achieves this public purpose to meet housing affordability goals by supporting the construction and preservation of affordable housing units and meeting market opportunities as budget, staff capacity, and leveraged fund sources allow.

This document seeks to translate the City's Housing and Community Development Division's overall objectives into clear guidelines for investment decisions. The framework is composed of program goals, investment strategy, and project requirements to inform the assessment and approval of funding decisions.

PROGRAM GOALS & PHILOSOPHY

Housing affordability means something different to every community resident. And the implications and tradeoffs are bigger for some than others.

No matter a household's income, they need housing options that don't threaten their ability to pay their bills, put food on the table, seek and receive medical care, and contribute to our community in the ways they want to if they were not cost-burdened.

The City of Boise's Housing Investment Program will use strategic investments in housing production and preservation to serve Boise residents by:

- Centering the most marginalized
- Targeting resources where resources are needed most
- Embracing Housing First
- Approaching affordability holistically

EXPECTED OUTCOMES

The city expects to enter partnerships with qualified affordable housing developers to make progress on its five-year goals:

- Produce 1,500 units at 60% AMI and below, including 250 units of supportive housing dedicated to Our Path Home
- Preserve 1,000 units at 80% AMI and below

As part of our holistic investment approach, the City considers a variety of metrics, including but not limited to: the amount of investment per affordable unit, the unit mix and unit size, a development's AMI portfolio, and the location of the development.

Additionally, through creative partnership, the City expects to not only produce much needed housing units for Boise residents, but to also use these investments to support other citywide goals such as climate action, movement for everyone, and economic development.

INVESTMENT STRATEGY & PROCESS

The City of Boise will strategically invest in projects that produce multifamily rental housing units affordable to households earning 60% AMI and below or households exiting homelessness.

City public-private partnerships seek to use investments to produce or preserve affordable housing projects on City-owned land. The following are the ways for a developer to be selected to produce or preserve housing as part of the City’s land trust:

EXISTING LAND HOLDINGS

PREQUALIFIED PARTNERSHIP ACQUISITION

Through a Request for Qualifications (RFQ) process, the City selects qualified development partner(s) to identify parcels for purchase during a designated timeframe. If the identified land meets agreed upon criteria and budget allows, the City will purchase the land to add to its land trust and the development partner enters a Land Trust partnership.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Selected prequalified developers have clear assurance of City’s willingness to support land acquisition during a designated time period.• If land is purchased by City, then all the benefits of a City-owned Land Trust development apply.
